SENATE INQUIRY STARTS

SUM MELLON SPENT IN PRIMARY PROBED COMMITTEE SAYS

Twenty Witnesses To
Tell Story Before
Investigators

WASHINGTON, June 9.—A special senate committee inquiry opened today to determine, first how much Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury and richest man in the administration, spent in the recent Pennsylvania primary.

"The first idea back of this movement of primary, investigations is to find out how much the Mellon organization spent in behalf of Senator Pepper, unsuccessful Republican incumbent," a member of the committee told the United Press privately before the committee gathered.

The investigation was authorized by a senate resolution adopted after reports that from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 were spent in the campaign which resulted in designation of William S. Vare, a "beer and light wine advocate," as Republican senatorial nominee over the Mellon administration candidate.

More than twenty witnesses have been called and Senator James E. Reed, Democrat, Missouri, veteran of a score of historic congressional inquiries, does not know whom he will put on the stand first.

Pepper, Vare and Pinchot, the three candidates, have been invited with their managers.

If the witnesses develop evidence which should be investigated further, the committee plans to go into the state and inspect bank accounts and records.

Enough witnesses have been called to keep the hearing going here for the next few days and the plan after that will be mapped out later.

BRETHREN CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL MEET AT LINCOLN, NEB.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 9.—A more tightly knitted allegiance between the layman and the Church was the theme of the annual national conference of the Church of the Brethren which opened here today.

The conference, which ends June 15, attracted more than 12,000 delegates from all parts of America. This is the first time since 1901 that the conference has been held in this section of the United States.

The Nebraska State Fair grounds were being used for the sessions, it being the only site in Lincoln large enough to handle the gathering.

"The church must become an integral part in the lives of its members," declared Albert Wiesand, dean of Bethany Bible school, Chicago, "if it is to continue playing the fundamental part in history."

Dr. Wiesand pointed to the elaborate musical programs and the conference for women being held during the convention as means of attracting the layman into church activities.

No mention of the modernism and fundamentalism controversy will be made during the conference, it was expected. All of the sermons delivered during the conference will be on fundamental doctrines.

Among the speakers at the conference were D. W. Kurtz, president of McPherson college, McPherson, Kan.; Prof. R. W. Schlosser, of Elizabethtown college, Pennsylvania; President E. M. Studebaker, of LaVerne college, California; Elder H. C. Early, of Virginia, former moderator; Rev. C. D. Bonack, Elgin, Ill.; E. B. Hoff, Chicago, associate president of Bethany Bible school.

BROOKHART WINS BY MAJORITY OF 70,000

DES MOINES, Ia., June 9.—Almost complete returns from the Republican senatorial primary in Iowa today showed Smith W. Brookhart, insurgent and former senator, nominated over Senator Albert B. Cummins, administration supporter, by about 70,000 plurality.

The vote from 2,367 precincts of the state's 2,447 gave: Brookhart 203,140; Cummins 133,852. Other candidates were running well in the rear.

Claude R. Porter has apparently won the Democratic nomination handily. Returns today showed Porter running about two to one ahead of J. H. Piles and J. C. Murtagh, his closest competitors.

Obligations Pointed Out To Seniors Of Central High At Commencement

Dr. W. R. McChesney Addresses Sixty Four Graduates at Exercises—Crowded Church Hears Brilliant Graduating Oration

Characterizing the "Sequel-Centennial" graduating class of Central High School as the "hope of the future," Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College, delivered an address on "Your Obligations," exhorting sixty-four attentive seniors to have a purpose in life at the sixty-seventh annual commencement exercises at First M. E. Church Tuesday night.

"With every generation," the speaker declared, "the obligation increases. The generations to follow you will consequently aim to higher heights if you fulfill your obligation."

"There will come a time when nations will forget their differences and bring the lights of truth together; when war drums will cease to throb, flags will be furled and when religious disputes will be no more, I can see such a civilization in the future."

"There is no reason under heaven nor any excuse why we should not bring out the best that is in us in these days of achievement and attainment. We have achieved mental, moral and religious lines far beyond the fondest dreams of the fathers of our country."

"You young people among the thousands of others, you, who will march out shoulder to shoulder from these classic halls—you are the hope of the future."

"Not only should you pursue life and happiness but liberty without regard to class, condition, color or creed. The liberty our fathers conceived must be maintained. You young people are under obligation to preserve the liberty your fathers fought and died for."

"You my friends, are the Sequel-Centennial class of Xenia High School, a fact which must impress you with the sacredness of your obligation."

"In going forth into the world you must keep in mind one of two things. First preparedness."

MERCHANTS PLAN OBSERVANCE OF INDEPENDENCE WEEK HERE

Committee Named To Draft Plans For Celebration—Propose Community Program And Patriotic Sunday

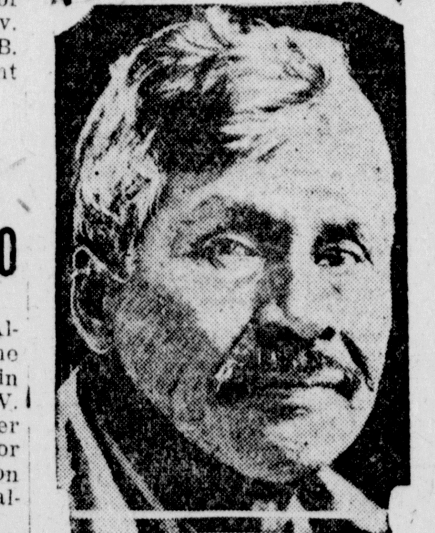

Promotion of suggestions that a definite program be arranged for Xenia's part in the nation-wide celebration of "American Independence Week" from June 28 to July 5, was found to be the consensus of opinion of twenty-six Xenia business men attending a called meeting of Mayor John Prugh at City Hall, Tuesday afternoon.

It is planned to make the observance county-wide with appropriate exercises on at least three of the seven days set aside.

A general committee of which Mayor Prugh is chairman and composed of Wilson Galloway, Dr. E. A. Kern, C. E. Arbogust, R. O. Wead, C. A. Kelble, H. A. Higgins and Dr. R. H. Hawkins was appointed to outline a definite plan of observance with authority to appoint subsequent sub-committees.

It is certain there will be county-wide observance of Monday.

AIR-MAIL AVIATOR SERIOUSLY HURT IN CRASH OF AIRPLANE

Warren Williams Is Taken to Hospital After Accident

CLEVELAND, June 9.—Warren D. Williams, Cleveland-to-Chicago air mail pilot, was seriously injured when his plane crashed near the Cleveland airport today.

Williams was removed to Lakewood Hospital. Physicians said he has a good chance for recovery.

The crash occurred shortly after Williams hopped off for Chicago. Apparently his motor stalled.

As the plane fell Williams turned his emergency flares on the landing field and attempted to volplane to earth. The craft refused to respond, however, and plunged into a tail spin.

Williams has been in the airmail service six years.

EIGHTH MURDER IS BAFFLING POLICE

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 9.—For the eighth time since January 1, a killer came out of Little Argonne, Steubenville's foreign quarter, during the night and slew a man.

The latest victim was Nick Fiora, 44, proprietor of a pool-hall and a store who was shot down as he locked up his place for the night.

The assassin fired from a narrow passage way between Fiora's store and his home next door. The assailant fled to the Little Argonne, where police lost trail.

As in the other seven killings, the police attributed Fiora's death to a bootleggers feud.

No arrests have been made in connection with any of the murders.

Four years ago Fiora's throat was slashed in a night street attack. He refused to identify his assailant.

A widow and three children survive.

PROPOSE MEMORIAL FOR FORMER DEAN

COLUMBUS, O., June 9.—A gift of $12,500 to establish a fellowship in memory of Professor Nathaniel Wright Lord, first dean of the college of engineering, was announced here at Ohio State University.

The donor is William B. Collins, of Ardmore, Pa., an alumnus of the class of 1899.

An income of $750 from the fellowship will be available each year to a promising graduate student for advanced work. Details of the award remain to be worked out but it is probable that the fellowship will be offered in some phases of engineering.

Professor Lord, for thirty-two years a member of Ohio State's faculty, was one of the outstanding engineers of his day. He was nationally known as a mining and metallurgical engineer, and was the head of his kind in chemical and sanitary and agricultural engineering.

Bryan's Daughter Has Slight Lead

MIAMI Fla., June 9.—Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of William J. Bryan, was running slightly ahead of W. J. Sears for the Democratic nomination for congress in returns from yesterday's election, early today.

The result of the contest however was not yet determined.

U. S. Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, was leading his opponents in early returns.

AMERICAN WINS WAY INTO TENNIS FINALS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
PARIS, June 9.—Mary K. Browne of California, and captain of the American Wightman cup team, today won her semifinal match and entered the finals of the French championship at the Racing Club. Miss Browne defeated Miss Katerina Bauman, of Holland, 8-6; 6-2. The American player probably will meet Suzanne Lenglen for the championship.

Future Admirals Receive Diplomas From Navy Chief

Graduation Day at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., has all the elements of the traditional Commencement plus the assurance that the actual ceremony of presenting the diplomas is always in the hands of one of the nation's highest officials. Above is the scene as the Class of 1926 received congratulations and diplomas from Secretary of Navy, Curtis D. Wilbur. The insert is a closeup of Mr. Wilbur officiating.

AUSTRIA REPUBLIC DISCHARGED FROM BANKRUPTCY COURT

League Of Nations Re-habilitates Nation Says Member

GENEVA, June 9.—The republic of Austria today was discharged from the international court of bankruptcy when the League of Nations council formally announced it would terminate all control of Austrian finances on June 30.

Rehabilitation of Austria is one of the great works of the league which has failed to gain merited recognition, one member said.

Mello Franco, the Brazilian member, who absented himself from Monday and Tuesday's council meetings was present today.

While the council was congratulating Austria and itself the troubles of the league were increasing in the chamber where he preliminary disarmament sub-commission was in session.

After two weeks discussion of disarmament without a single fundamental decision being taken the delegates today disagreed regarding adjournment.

URGE DISMISSAL OF CHARGES OF FRAUD

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Dismissal of the election contest brought by Warren W. Bailey, Democrat, against Representative Anderson H. Walters, Pennsylvania, Republican, was recommended to the House today by its Election Committee.

Seated originally by a majority of 63, Walters lost 12 votes in a recount and investigation extending for two months.

Twenty-one ballots cast by aliens for Bailey, were thrown out by the committee, which also turned down charges of fraud and irregularity against Walters and recommended that he retain his place in the House.

Bailey received forty disputed votes in St. Michaels district, however, where he charged tampering with the ballot boxes.

SCHOOLS CAN STOP MILITARY TRAINING

COLUMBUS, O., June 9.—Under a ruling of the state supreme court today any public school may abolish compulsory military training at the will of the board of education.

The court announced this ruling, in refusing to review the appeal of Miss Jennie Greenberg, of Cleveland, who sought to prevent the Cleveland board of education from striking military training from the curricula of Cleveland schools.

The Cleveland Board of Education insisted throughout that the matter of military training was optional and that the board could legally abolish it. These contentions were upheld by the court.

MURDER SUSPECTS
CHILLICOTHE, O., June 9.—Robert Graham and George Wilcox, who were arrested here in connection with a robbery at Wooster, are suspected of the murder of A. J. Bengel, Franklin County policeman, shot to death in a gun battle with bandits several weeks ago. Columbus police have been asked to attempt to identify the men.

AMERICAN SOLDIER IN FOREIGN LEGION "NOT AFRAID TO DIE"

Doty, Alias Clare, Was Homesick—Saved From Arabs

BEIRUT, Syria, June 9.—Bennett Doty (Gilbert Clare) American soldier in the French foreign legion, is now held on a charge of absence without leave and not desertion.

CAIRO, June 9.—A dramatic story of a battle between deserters from the French foreign legion and Arab tribesmen is told in Damascus advices concerning the case of B. J. Doty, alias Gilbert Clare, American youth whose plight as a deserter caused the premier of France to stay the course of justice.

The advices said the youth deserted because he was unable to tolerate conditions he declared existed in the foreign legion.

With half a dozen companions, most of whom were German members of the foreign legion, he made a dash for the frontier, after the capture of Suella. Arabs attacked the fleeing men, however, and a fight ensued. The deserters were armed with only one rifle and were facing death when French sympathizers arrived and saved them. The deserters were forced to surrender to French officers to avoid being slaughtered by the Arabs.

In addition to Doty and the Germans who fled with him, one of the band of deserters was believed to be British. All are awaiting disposition of their cases in Damascus.

PARIS, June 9.—A Damascus dispatch, he started for Palestine. Bedouins attacked the party and killed two of them, the dispatch reported.

"I am not afraid of death," the dispatch quoted him as writing. "I shall probably go to devil's Island. Tell the folks not to worry."

Clare probably will be given a trial at Damascus, the Tribune dispatch said.

PROMISE DEBATE ON PROHIBITION ACT

WASHINGTON, June 9.—A prohibition debate on the house floor was insured today by the judiciary committee's action in reporting out the Goff-Graham-Andrews enforcement bill, tightening up the Volstead law.

The committee supported the contention "a man's home is his castle" by recommending deletion of a section proposed by Lincoln C. Andrews, dry chief, to allow search of private dwellings if there is evidence of stills being set up in them.

The other provisions of the bill proposed by Andrews were approved. The committee requested Chairman Graham, Republican, Pennsylvania, to ask for a special rule to bring the measure before the house.

In one same bill, introduced by Senator Goff, has been much altered and probably will not be considered this session.

BOGUS STAMPS ARE SEIZED BY RAIDERS

NEW YORK, June 9.—Three men were arrested and 3,000,000 counterfeit revenue stamps, representing a value of $250,000, were seized here early today, when Federal agents raided the office of a lithographing company.

Agents were sent from Washington eight weeks ago upon the finding of a counterfeit internal revenue stamp used in sealing whiskey bottles. Clues led them to the sixth floor of a building in the heart of the lithographing and engraving district.

Two agents climbed the fire escape, forced entrance through steel fire shutters and found three men at work. Copper plates, two presses the 3,000,000 stamps and a large quantity of liquor labels were seized.

COLLEGE HEAD ELECTED

BUCKHAMTON, W. Va., June 9.—Dr. Homer B. Wark, professor of theology at Boston University, was elected to be President of West Virginia Wesleyan College by its board of trustees today. He is to succeed Dr. E. G. Cutsbush, who resigned last year to become head of a theological seminary at Denver, Col.

CITY APPRAISAL BOARDS NAMED; MEET WITH AUDITOR THURSDAY

City Commission, city board of education and County Auditor R. O. Wead have completed their list of appointments of appraisers to conduct the scheduled re-appraisal of real estate in Xenia this summer.

The city has been mapped out into residential and business districts to facilitate the project.

Commission, school board and the auditor have each nominated two men as appraisers for each of the four wards in the city, and one each has been designated for the business district.

Each ward will be divided into two districts with the six appointments in each ward divided into two appraisal boards. The business district appraisal will be operated on the same basis with the exception it will be appraised as a whole and not separated into two or more districts.

Auditor Wead expects to call a meeting of the twenty-seven appraisers Thursday at the Court House when he will deliver final instructions.

It is planned to begin actual field work in the city Monday.

The following men were designated as appraisers by City Commission—First Ward: G. M. Stiles and C. W. Fisher; Second Ward: Herbert Davis and R. R. Grieve; Third Ward: William Ambuhl and John A. North; Fourth Ward: William Rogers and L. P. Hillard; business district: John W. Prugh.

City school board appointments—First Ward: William Foglesong and Henry Slagle; Second Ward: D. H. Barnes and Frank Bickett; Third Ward: A. J. Wilson and R. O. Consey; Fourth Ward: William Shields and Arthur Taylor; business district: R. D. Adair.

Auditor Wead's nominees—First Ward: R. E. Hunter and P. M. Gillespie; Second Ward: George Smith and L. D. Wilson; Third Ward: Allen Haines and Frank Hastings; Fourth Ward: George Miles and William Fishback; business district: I. S. Dines.

Dines was originally appointed by the school board to serve in the second ward but the county auditor obtained permission to change the appointment to the business district at the same time designating Frank Bickett to fill the vacancy in the second ward. It is announced.

Concrete street
pavement gives the same
enduring service as the concrete road

Bellefontaine, Ohio Has Oldest Concrete Street in America

Thirty-four years old, and still on the job.
That's the story of America's first concrete street.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, built it—'way back in 1892.

In those days America was without movies, without the radio, without skyscrapers—and without automobiles.

The most daring dreamer would not have predicted that some day we would have 20,000,000 motor vehicles, and that the motor industry would be turning out 4,000,000 new cars a year.

Thirty-four years ago portland cement concrete had not even been considered as a paving material, and there were no standards of design and construction to go by.

Yet Bellefontaine's first concrete street on Court House Square, like the many other concrete streets it has built since, continues to meet all traffic requirements.

Just as it withstood the slow-moving, steel-tired horse-drawn traffic of other days so is it withstanding the swift pounding traffic of automobiles, busses and motor trucks.

Modern highway builders from near and far go to inspect this veteran pavement; but they no longer marvel at its sturdy service. For they know that in hundreds of cities and towns from one end of the country to the other, concrete streets have proved that they possess the same enduring strength they have shown in Bellefontaine, Ohio.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy

Overwrought Nerves

YOU never heard of a red-blooded person—man or woman—becoming a nervous wreck! And you never will. You never saw anybody with healthy, rich, red blood, get wearied by the activities of daily life. Did you?

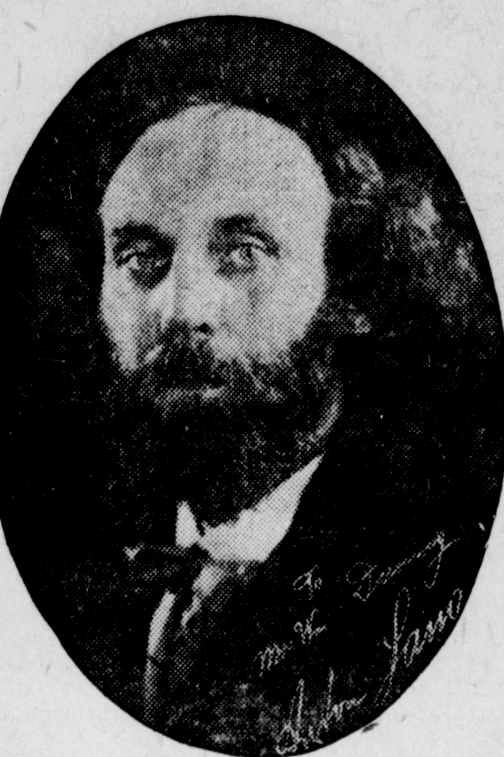

No! It's weak blood—lack of healthy, rich, red blood. That's the whole trouble with those whose nerves are overwrought. They lack the resisting powers—the stamina that healthy, red-blood-cells give that enable us to stand up under the strain of daily life.

Don't keep on going down simply because your blood is starving for want of healthy, red-blood-cells. You can get back your nerve power with S. S. S. You can do it just as surely as thousands have done for the past century.

S. S. S. also clears the skin of pimples, boils, eczema—hollow cheeks fill out and firm flesh takes the place of flabby muscles. Why, you'll begin living all over again. Get S. S. S. today from any good druggist. And get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

WOULD LINK CHURCH WOMEN IN SOCIETY

COLUMBUS, O., June 9—Plans to link together in a state-wide program the ideal inter-denominational federation of churchwomen's societies which exist in a number of Ohio cities were made at a meeting of the women's committee of the Ohio council of churches here.

Some twenty Ohio cities possess such organizations, several of which function as departments of women's work in connection with city council or churches. The committee considered plans for promoting establishment of such federations in other cities.

Possibility of holding a state-wide conference for women engaged in church work in Columbus next January was also discussed. It held this meeting will probably be at the time of the State Pastors' convention, January 24-27, but will be conducted separately from that gathering.

Mrs. Dan P. Bradley, Cleveland, is chairman of the women's committee. The membership includes representatives of protestant denomination in the council of churches and of local inter-denominational groups.

GIRLS, USE LEMON TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juices of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. ## MAUDE WYNNE MONROE ATTAINS HIGHEST RECORD IN STUDIES

First place on the 1926 honor roll at Centar High School, which annually signifies individual scholastic triumphs in the senior class, has been awarded this year to Miss Maude Wynne Monroe, who obtained perfect grades during her high school course.

She obtained sixty-four points, the highest possible number, by receiving grades of E in every subject she studied during her freshman, sophomore, junior and senior years.

The normal student "load" is four academic subjects per year during high school and the honor roll is computed on this basis.

It is restricted to the ten students having the highest number of points for the four years but this year saw an exceptional senior class, according to Principal Spencer Shank.

Miss Monroe is first on the list, next is a group of five students with an equal academic ranking of sixty points out of a possible sixty-four. Those in group two are Dorothy Bocklet, Edward Flynn, Jane Hayward, Barbara Little and Elizabeth Stout.

William Wead is next with fifty-eight points, followed by two students, Helen Reutinger and Elizabeth Hardy, who are tied with fifty-six points.

The honor roll also includes the names of five students grouped with fifty-five points each. These are Virginia Heathman, Bertha Hyman, Mary Jordan, Christel Thomas and Mary Wilson.

WHO WANTS IT THAT WAY?

ANNOUNCED in the season of strawberries, roasting ears and watermelons, that project for reducing food to tabloid form is not likely to find much encouragement. Instead of a tabloid hotcake, the average individual has ever yearned for one about as big as a platter. It is not for corn on cob reduced to a pill that one sighs, but for at least a dozen Golden Bantams in quick succession. It is no time-saving device that one wants when in the presence of fried chicken; one imagines that one could pretty nearly stay with it forever.

So we note the suggestion by a member of the United States public health service that science may some time reduce our food to the form of a tiny pellet only to warn science that if it does it will make itself unpopular with the vast majority of mankind. No normal individual wants to get out of the habit of eating apple pie or turkey and its trimmings. Nor is any disciple of normalcy looking for a way to take ice cream so he will not know what he is swallowing.

Just as things stand even devil-food cake can be negotiated without requiring anything to take the taste away. It is but fair to the officer who made the tabloid food suggestion that he himself is not impressed by the thought of it, excepting, possibly, for emergencies or traveling in the desert. Personally he likes to eat, and that is the unanimous answer.

Gluttony consists not in liking to eat, for every normal being enjoys the taking of food; gluttony is abuse of this natural law, to the extent of making food the object of life rather than a means of continuing it; gluttony lives to eat instead of eating to live and render useful service.

The tabloid food proposition may be all right as a subject for light summer discussion, but as long as human beings remain in the flesh they just naturally will not hanker for anything to abbreviate the taste of good things to eat.

Editor, Gazette:

THE HUMAN SIDE

The economic phase of tuberculosis eradication has frequently been stressed, but the dairy farmer also has a moral responsibility to his own family and to the families of others who may consume his product in the raw state. The chief danger, of course, to children especially to children under five years of age. Read what Dr. Chas. H. Mayo of the world renowned Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minnesota, says concerning the eradication of bovine tuberculosis:

"I believe in pasteurization," he says in answer to an inquiry, "but I also strongly believe in the eradication of tuberculosis animals from dairy herds; this can be done by careful testing. This is the only safe way for children on the farms where pasteurized milk cannot be obtained. The majority of cases of tuberculosis in the neck, intestines and abdomen are found in children from the farms and not from the city."

Farm fathers and mothers may well pause and consider these words of a famous surgeon who tells them that this type of tuberculosis is most often found on the farm. Does it pay to temporize and delay? Of course, all children who drink milk from tubercular cows may not acquire the disease. It is even possible that only a small percentage of them will. But what sensible and loving father would refuse to stamp out the burning brand, even though there may be only one chance in ten that it will set the house on fire? Who would jeopardize in the slightest or run one chance in a million that his little boy or girl might be taken from him because he was neglectful in adopting reasonable precautionary methods? Many sad stories have been told. Here is one recently called to our attention; and almost any community can find a similar tragedy.

A little farm boy of two years developed a swelling in his head. Local doctors failed to discover the cause and finally the child was taken to the state children's hospital. There it was found that the trouble was due to tuberculosis. Everything that science and tender care could do failed to save the child. The parents, recognizing the possibility of bovine origin, but heretofore neglectful, immediately had their herd tuberculin tested. Several cows reacted, among them the one cow whose milk had been selected for baby because the cow seemed to be so healthy. Post-mortem revealed that this animal had a tuberculous udder.

A German commission investigated eighty-four children who had died of tuberculosis. Twenty-one of these, one-fourth, had contracted the disease from bovine sources. Several years ago an investigation revealed that in New York City there were 300 children that died each year from tuberculosis of bovine origin, in addition to which there were many more that were permanently disabled through tuberculosis of the glands, bones, and joints, acquired from bovine sources. In sixty-seven cases of tuberculosis of the bone in children under twelve years of age, an Edinburgh investigation showed that forty-one were of

CANNING CORN

Corn is one of the vegetables which are safer canned by the Three-Day-Process or Intermittent Method, rather than by the old One-Period Method of processing. Also it is best to put the corn into the jars hot instead of cold. —another change from the old "One Period Cold Pack Method."

Use your water boiler as a canner if you do not happen to own a regular Water Bath Outfit. Obtain a wire or wood rack to go in the bottom, or simply use folded cloths, so that water may circulate under jars as well as around and over them.

Begin by cutting the kernels off the cobs without precooking, and place them in boiling water to cover; let kernels heat thoroughly (off the range), then fill sterilized quart-size jars with them, adding one teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon of granulated sugar to each jar, and filling jar to within one-fourth inch of top with additional boiling water if that in which the kernels are warming is not sufficient to fill jars.

Put on fresh rubbers and sterilized glass caps. By "sterilized" I mean caps and jars which have been placed previously in cold water to cover, brought to the boil, allowed to continue boiling fifteen minutes, then drained and kept hot (with towels wrung from hot water) till it is time to fill them with the corn.

Next, put top wire up over glass cap but do not press down side wire (this is called "partially sealing"). Stand jar, in this way, in the wash boiler in boiling water which rises above their tops. Count time after water recommences to boil when the jars are in. Let it boil one hour. Then remove jar, press down side wire (called "completely sealing") and stand in ordinary room-temperature overnight. In the morning release side wire partially sealing again) and once more boil jar an hour in water to cover, then again completely seal and let stand overnight in room-temperature. On the third day once again raise side wire and boil (or "process") the jar for a third hour, then completely seal, label and store.

This method is of course more trouble than the old One-Period Cold Pack Method. But it is safe and is advised by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Tomorrow — The "Hope Chest."

FIRST STOVES

It is not certain when the first stove came into use in Greene County but there were only a few distributed until the beginning of the '50s.

The first stoves were crude affairs. From the pictures of stoves for kitchen use which appeared in advertisements in the '40s, they must have been difficult to operate.

Before the advent of the stove, the cooking was all done before the open fire.

The three-legged Dutch oven with iron lid, spiders, skillets and the ever-present iron kettle comprised the chief utensils for boiling, roasting, baking and frying.

A leg of venison, a wild turkey, or the ham of a pioneer porker was hung up before the fireplace by a strong cord. One of the younger members of the household was delegated to the task of turning the roast so that it would be nicely browned on all sides; however, the unlucky youngster was generally as well roasted as the joint of meat.

The family washing was usually done in the yard around the cabin, the water being heated in a large kettle.

The washing machine was as unknown as the flying machine.

The same kettle used in the washing was used in the spring in making the family soap for the year.

Every well-regulated household had its ash hopper and its barrel into which every fragment of fat found its way.

Today's Talk

TURNING POINTS

There is just a little hair's distance between success and failure.

Failure is the result of not having enough courage to leap over that hair's breadth.

When you feel as though all was lost, that is the time when you should determine to lose nothing.

None of us ever feels wholly secure in our success, no matter what it may seem like.

We are beset with turning points. It may be that just one more turn, or just one more ounce of effort may mean your uphill achievement.

Never give up when you feel like giving up.

You are the only individual in this world who is able to make yourself win or fail. You can do what you believe you can do.

When you stand at a turning point, lift your chin just a little higher and set your jaw a little firmer—and then decide to make the grade!

Depend upon no one. Be a lifter and not a leaneer. You feed upon the inspiration that you alone germinate. As you inspire others you in turn inspire yourself.

For greatness is that realization that comes to all understanding minds that the job must be finished—somehow.

Lydia E. Pinkham and Her Great Granddaughter

IF Lydia E. Pinkham were alive today she would be 107 years old. Her memory is revered by her descendants who continue to manufacture and market her famous Vegetable Compound.

From Lydia E. Pinkham to her great granddaughter, four generations have relied upon this dependable medicine. The happy school girl of today, like the demure maiden of the 1870's, knows that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps to restore and preserve her health.

Years ago, a mother gave this medicine to her fifteen year old daughter. The daughter married and became the mother of seven children. She writes, "I always took it before my babies were born and I know it gave me strength to keep up and do my work. I am now taking the Vegetable Compound again and I am giving it to my oldest daughter."

Because this dependable medicine has proved its worth in her own family, she will answer letters from other women asking about it.

ANTIOCH DEFEATS WILBERFORCE U. IN FREE HITTING TILT

Pounding Thompson for fifteen hits and a like number of runs, Coach Earl E. Prugh's Antioch College baseball team easily defeated Wilberforce University at Wilberforce 15 to 10 Tuesday afternoon.

Thompson was breezing along with a one run lead until the seventh when he was found for nine runs. Dawson started in the box for Antioch and was effective until the fourth and fifth, when he was pounded out of the box. MacLean, his successor, managed to avert big rallies.

Ward, Wilberforce outfielder, was the batting star of the contest. He polled two home runs and a single. Currier's catching was also a feature.

Wilberforce fielded poorly committing nine offenses in this department while the visitors played almost errorless ball. Antioch plays Capital at Yellow Springs, Saturday at 2 p. m.

Score by innings:

DAYTON MARCOS TO PLAY HERE AGAIN

Xenia fans will be given at least one more opportunity to witness a big league baseball game this summer as it is probable the Dayton Marcos will avail themselves of the privilege of using Washington Park for the second time this season next Wednesday afternoon.

Home following a fairly successful road trip, the Marcos open a series with the Detroit Stars in Dayton next week. It is planned to play one of the series in Xenia on Wednesday at 3:30 p. m.

The Stars are entrenched in second place in the National League for Colored Players and according to Manager Matthews, of the Marcos, have one of the best nines in the league.

"WHY DODDS' SERVICE IN MEMORIALS IS BEST."

In this modern age of high development "efficiency" has been a tried word, but it has proved to be the keynote of America's success.

People everywhere are on a constant search for individuality in their attempt to secure the necessities of life. A characteristic of the people of our country is to be constantly changing for a new and better way of striving for the highest point of development.

The George Dodds & Sons Co. is one firm which has followed the above principles. Their motto has been in the past: "The customer must be treated so well that his satisfaction will be evidenced in the good will which prompts him to recommend our service to others." There are several reasons for their ability to render such perfect service to the public. This organization has been in the business world for about sixty years. Experience, alone is a great factor. When a firm has an efficient force with ambition and pep they are sure to succeed, especially when the quality of merchandise is included.

One of the main features of the George Dodds & Sons Co. is that they have gained control of one of the most famous quarries in Massachusetts which they themselves operate. From these quarries they receive an excellent grade of granite, namely, the Victoria White and the Milford Pink. The fact that they own and operate their own quarries enables them to sell their products to the public at a lower cost.

Their stock, however, is not limited to these two grades, but any type of marble or granite may be secured in accordance with the customer's wish.

Aside from obtaining their material at a low cost, their men in employment must also be considered. In this type of work, great care is an absolute necessity. Their designing department is one of which they are especially proud. Their designers are master artists, who either create their design or produce them at the suggestion of the customer. Their workmen are artistic as well as accurate in the work, of which an inspection of that department is persuasive of that fact.

In this line of work the customer is greatly reliant on the dealer for his judgment as to various qualities of the monument or marker.

Having had many years of experience, they are easily able to advise the customers, and give a pleasing service to the public. They have succeeded in so benefiting mankind through their courtesy and service, that they have willingly acquired the good will of all whom they serve.

What more could a patron desire from a corporation whose ideals have been so high? As a reward for their service to this community the George Dodds & Sons Co. shall never be forgotten through their work which will stand as their living memorial.

FORMER FAIRFIELD AVIATOR KILLED

Elmer Partridge, air mail pilot, who was killed Monday when his airplane crashed during a gale near Mendota, Minn., was in instructor at Wilbur Wright Field, in 1917. With his brother, Don, Partridge, was the first civilian to land at the field after its completion.

The dead aviator was a pioneer in flying and instructed at the local field for more than a year. Partridge, his brother and two other men, formed the training staff of which only two men remain. Art Smith, who was killed when flying the Cleveland-Chicago leg of the transcontinental air mail service recently, was one of the four instructors.

Partridge was a carnival flyer before the war and during the Dayton air race operated a fast aerial passenger service between Chicago and Dayton.

TO CONNECT DAYTON WITH WRIGHT FIELD

Work on the proposed road connecting Third St., Dayton, to the new Wright Field, will begin at once. The announcement was made following the sale of the land to the Gem City Improvement Co.

The consideration involved in the transaction is estimated at $100,000. The land purchased extends one mile from the end of the extension made when Aerial Park Field was opened, through the Harshman farm and hits the Yellow Springs road at the junction of Spinning Road.

The strip of land is 375 feet wide. Through its center a ninety-foot boulevard is to be laid with a park strip through the center and an eighteen-foot road on either side.

POSTPONE LETTING TEMPLE CONTRACTS

With tabulation of bids almost completed, contracts in at least seven units for erection of the new $55,000 annex to the Masonic Temple will probably be let at the next meeting of the Masonic Temple Association, sometime this week or early next week.

The association held another meeting Tuesday afternoon when the type of heating plant to be installed in the temple annex was decided upon. It will be a modern steamheating plant and operate separately from the main building.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calms without soreness or irritation.

EVERYBODY IS QUEER IN SOME RESPECT REPORTER FINDS; WHAT'S YOUR FAILING?

Everybody is rather "queer" when you come to think about it. What is your pet "quirk"? Undoubtedly you have one for it is common to all. Without exception everybody has some little peculiarity or quirkiness, perhaps a touch of individuality which distinguishes him from others.

The idiosyncrasies of others may seem peculiar to you and even humorous. You will quickly recognize them in your friends and associates but never in yourself. For that matter your companions just as readily recognize little points of quickness or individuality in you. People are funny as a rule. Probably you know of many queer characteristics in your friends.

For instance there is the man who hates the second gear in his automobile. Possibly it does not go in easily enough to suit him but as a matter of fact he will jerk and puff along in high, crawling and sputtering at a slow rate of speed up a hill, rather than shift into second. Accustomed to higher-powered cars he simply hates to go into second if he can possibly avoid it.

Do you know the women, who, although they can not be classed as stingy, hate to throw anything away if it can be of the slightest use. This may be called economical, conservative or just thrifty. However, in many cases their attics are loaded with a mass of impossible articles that will never be used but are nevertheless "saved."

Then there is the woman who will save every bit of string that comes into her hands. The color or texture doesn't matter for she saves all varieties and colors. It is tragic edy for her to miss a single bit of it. Presently she has enough string in her kitchen to fly a kite, but she never stops gathering bits together for a vague future use. Others do this with wrapping paper. They never attempt to sell it, just save it.

Some characteristics are of a serious character—others cause no little embarrassment to their possessors.

There is the housewife who has a horror of dirt. It may be the man who washes his hands at least ten times a day, it may be the woman who is constantly dusting already spotless furniture, in quest of the slightest speck of dirt. Others have a marked aversion for dark places, for certain animals or a dislike for some particular food.

Strong men faint at the sight of blood and sensible women sometimes have a fear of being poisoned.

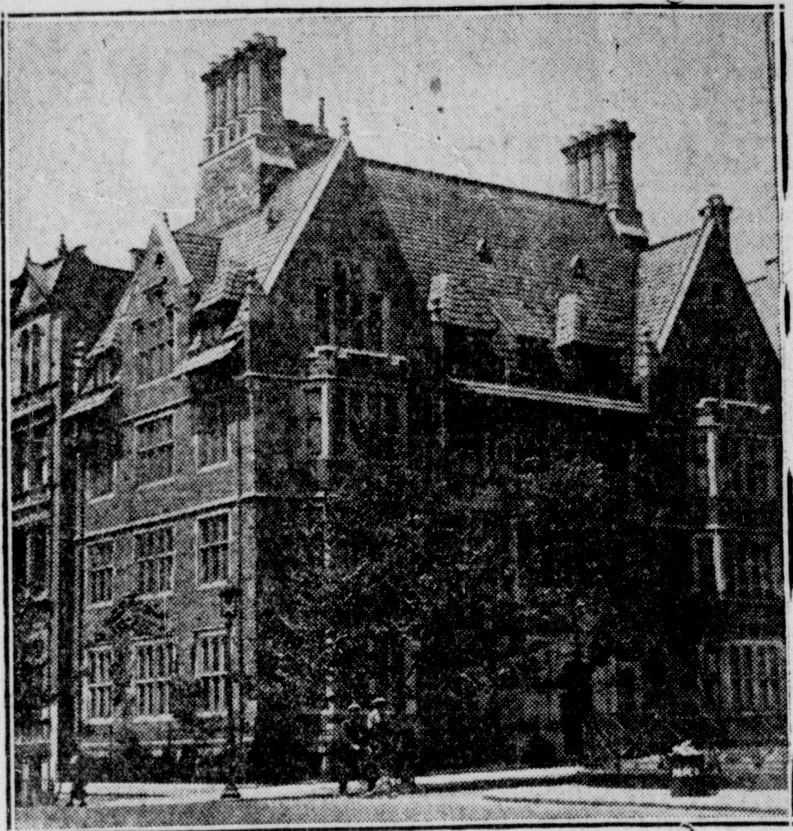

Aren't people funny?

"Not Possible To Classify"

By Mack Sauer

A few jottings of the day by Samuel Pepps, Jr. Up and sewed a button on my shirt, while my wife slept, using black thread instead of white. Got to thinking of how the mothers used to hide their daughters' clothes to keep them home at night, and to wondering how mothers do these days, since the modern girl would not stay at home because of no clothes to wear, as she proves on the streets every day.

Came a fellow to chat with me and mighty inquisitive he was to find whether my heart is good or no, which made me wonder what his meaning was, and after all my thoughts I could not figure it out, until it came to me that he is an insurance agent so angry with myself for telling him so much of my business. Saw Helen Dodds, who it doth appear, will run for office.

In front of the car station saw a push cart knocked over by a bus, papers flying everywhere, but no words. And what mirth it gave me to hear Carl Anderson, the taxi man, singing a tune about the old time religion, and of how it is good enough for him. To see McIntire, the tire man, about my radio battery, and we talked long about this and that, and in especial of fishing of which we have great love.

To visit my friend, Roy Sutton, and heard a few tunes on a dulcimer, one of the finest instruments I know, yet rare. Came an invitation to speak at a gathering ere long, which with much ado I accepted, though I know it is too much for me. Home late and to bed with prayers.

FAMOUS SPHINX NOW ENTIRELY REVEALED FIRST TIME IN YEARS

CAIRO, June 9.—For the first time in 2,200 years the Sphinx is now entirely visible. The accumulation of sand which since Ptolemaic times has been filling up the depression in which the Sphinx stands, and which had buried all but the head and shoulders of the Sphinx, has been carried away by an army of workers and this seventh Wonder of the World today again stands fully revealed.

No less than 800 boys and girls and a large corps of skilled masons have been employed for months in the excavation and renovation of the Sphinx.

These youngsters worked in gangs each with its own special singer who chanted all-day long little meaningless Arabic ditties which the gangs of dark-skinned children took up and chanted themselves as they straggled up and down the sides of the ever-deepening hole from which the immense bulk of the Sphinx slowly emerged as the work progressed. Once again the giant paws have come to light in their entirety and between them has been found still intact the tiny shrine built by Thotmes about 2,000 B. C. This was last examined during some minor excavations in 1817.

The memorial stone to this shrine bears an interesting inscription describing how the Sphinx appeared to the Prince in a vision when he had fallen asleep in its shade after a hunting expedition. In his dream the Sphinx told the Prince that he would become King, but made him promise to clear his image from the sand in which it had become buried. Subsequently the Prince came to the throne as Thotmes IV., and the monument records that in the first year of his reign he fulfilled his dream-promise.

Thotmes IV. also caused all but the head of the Sphinx to be encased in a limestone masonry about a foot thick to protect it against the wear of time. This masonry covering is still perfect on the enormous paws and lower parts of the monument. Some of the red pigment with which the monument was covered also remains, and on the breast are traces of the huge statue of the king who originally had the Sphinx produced.

The Sphinx as now uncovered is about 240 feet long from the end of the haunches and is about 65 feet high from the base to the crown of the head. In the head there is a hollow about six feet deep and another about two feet deep near the left forehead where attempts have been made to discover treasures that were reputed to have been hidden at some unknown period.

The Sphinx faces due east and since he was first cut from virgin rock has greeted the rising sun more than 2,000,000 times. Its Egyptian name is Abu Hol, "the Father of Fear."

OBLIGATIONS ARE STRESSED IN TALK TO NEW GRADUATES

for the responsibilities of life. You are each equipped with either natural or acquired advantages of preparedness.

The natural or hereditary may be mingled blessing and curse. We can not help what we inherited but we are responsible for how we use these qualities.

"Acquired preparedness rests in your environment, first in your homes, your first place of learning, next in your school.

"There is no institution in America today doing so much for the boy and girl, the lad and lassie, as the public school. You should never forget the obligation you owe the schools of the country and to the honest, planning, noble, self-sacrificing teachers and superintendents. If it were not for all of this you would not be here to-night.

"Nor can you afford to forget in your preparation the government that has guarded and protected your interests for so long a time. The strong arm of the law in America sees to it that we all have a chance for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

"The obligation now rests with you to pay your debt to society, to the homes that have raised you, to the schools that have cultured you. Your obligation is to carry the spirit of religious as well as civil freedom to all ends of the earth.

"Have a purpose in life. That is fundamental, a preparation and a purpose—a purpose based on fundamentals, one that goes down deep into your character, one that is broad as the universe. We are brothers, we are sisters, all the world around. You should succeed.

"No purpose short of that involving the vision of God can succeed. We may go out of the world with its plaudits ringing in our ears but the doom of hell will sound if our purpose is short of that which entwines itself into God's vision.

"A sound, righteous and noble purpose with God-given convictions—have that kind of a purpose—one that will absorb your very being, be compelling and all-potential when the crisis in your life comes.

"Put energy into your purpose and preparation. It is work that counts as well as the other two. We must toil to succeed, success does not come easily.

"What shall I be, what shall I do? are the great problems which now confront you. Find your niche in life and do not be ashamed of it no matter how small it is. Nothing is obscure or humble in the eyes of the Lord. Get your right work and do your best.

"In conclusion have purity in life, a high noble purpose. Keep clean as you go through life in carrying out this purpose. Have nothing to confess, have nothing to be ashamed of, keep your record pure young men, keep your record pure."

Commencement program opened with the processional with organ accompaniment by Miss Theda Downing, the sixty-four graduates taking their places in a reserved section in the church. Following the custom inaugurated last year, caps and gowns were again worn.

The invocation was pronounced by Dr. F. W. Stanton, pastor of the church. A selection, "Gems and Jewels" by the Central High School Orchestra under the direction of Eugene Whitworth, preceded Dr. McChesney's address.

Superintendent H. C. Pendry's introductory talk.

Another orchestral number, "Garden of Eden" followed the speech.

In presenting the senior class, Principal Spencer Shank also complimented it as an exceptional one. He also introduced Miss Helen Reutinger and George Perrill, who attained the premier roll this year and fourteen seniors whose scholastic ranking has been so high for the past four years they have achieved the distinction of honor roll pupils.

Superintendent H. C. Pendry presented the diplomas. Following the singing of the first and last verses of "America" by the audience, Dr. McChesney pronounced the benediction.

Following is the class roll: Marie Acton, Hazel Ary, James Bickett, Dorothy Bocklet, Dan Booren, Robert Buckies, Arnold Boxwell, Frances Bradley, Juanita Buttz, John Collins, Kenneth Conklin, Jessie Crawford, Louise Crawford, Robert Currie, Wanda DeVoe, John Donovan, Robert Downing, Lester Fawcett, Robert Finlay, William Flomerfelt, Edward Flynn, Elizabeth Hardy.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

NANCY LARRABEE has remained in New York with her mother.

VIRGINIA, while her husband, a young army officer, goes to the Philippines. They become estranged and she writes him that she wants to divorce him and marry Bill Ewing. She received a cablegram saying that Jim has died at sea, and realizes that it is Jim she loves.

The report of Jim's death is false, and he returns to New York, where Nancy meets him at the train, and finds that he apparently is as eager for a divorce as she was until she heard of his death.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XI—A DIFFICULT EVENING

I DRESSED with more care that evening than I had used before in months. Even though Jim didn't love me any more, I wanted to make the best possible impression. I was determined to show him, before the evening was over, what he'd lost when he lost me.

"Looking lovely tonight, Nancy," he remarked as I came into the sitting-room where he was waiting for me.

There was about as much expression in his voice as if he'd said he liked the wallpaper.

I nodded and sat down on a couch near the window.

"I suppose you and Celia have arranged everything," I said, trying to keep my voice from being shaky. "Really, it's as if we were all playing pusey wants a corner. I'm getting a divorce so that you can marry Celia, and she's getting one so that she can marry you."

"And you're getting one so that you can marry again," he cut in.

"Oh no. I'm not going to marry again," I told him.

"You—what?" Oh well, of course, you don't mean that."

I wondered how I could convince him. Suddenly, more than anything else in the world I wanted to be his wife again. I realized more than I ever had before that he meant to me. I wanted to be a real wife to him, a wife who kept house—and more important still, kept home. I wanted to learn to sew and cook and dust and sweep.

I didn't want to be a society butterfly any longer. I wanted to be a good wife—and a good mother.

And I had lost Jim. I couldn't ever be what I wanted to.

"Oh yes, I do mean it," I told him. "I'm through with marriage."

He laughed and lighted a cigarette.

"Oh well, you'll soon change your mind," he said. "Say, I wonder where those fellows are; they're late. I think I'll run down to their rooms and hurry them along."

He was gone before I could stop him. It almost looked as if he wanted to get away from me. As a matter of fact, his friends had come on the transport with him, weren't late at all; it was fifteen minutes before the time he'd set for them to join us.

He came back in about twenty minutes with his friends, and we went to one of the big restaurants for dinner. I loathed the place; it was crowded and noisy, with a jazz band making such a racket that conversation was impossible most of the time.

"But I thought you liked jazz," Jim said when I protested. "You used to love it."

"I've had too much of it," I answered. "I want to spend all my time now in some quiet, restful place."

"Sounds as if you were looking for a cemetery," remarked one of Jim's friends. I wished that he and his companion were in Halifax; there they sat, completely spilling what would probably be my last evening alone with Jim!

We went to the theater afterward. It was a musical comedy, which I'd seen before, twice. I hardly knew what was going on on the stage; my thoughts were all of Jim.

During the intermission he and one of his friends went out and smoked. The other man stayed and talked with me, telling me little anecdotes about life in the Philippines, where he'd been in Jim's regiment.

When Jim came back I asked him

SENATE INQUIRY STARTS

SUM MELLON SPENT IN PRIMARY PROBED COMMITTEE SAYS

Twenty Witnesses To
Tell Story Before
Investigators

WASHINGTON, June 9.—A special senate committee inquiry opened today to determine, first how much Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury and richest man in the administration, spent in the recent Pennsylvania primary.

"The first idea back of this movement of primary, investigations is to find out how much the Mellon organization spent in behalf of Senator Pepper, unsuccessful Republican incumbent," a member of the committee told the United Press privately before the committee gathered.

The investigation was authorized by a senate resolution adopted after reports that from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 were spent in the campaign which resulted in designation of William S. Vare, a "beer and light wine advocate," as Republican senatorial nominee over the Mellon administration candidate.

More than twenty witnesses have been called and Senator James E. Reed, Democrat, Missouri, veteran of a score of historic congressional inquiries, does not know whom he will put on the stand first.

Pepper, Vare and Pinchot, the three candidates, have been invited with their managers.

If the witnesses develop evidence which should be investigated, the committee plans to go into the state and inspect bank accounts and records.

Enough witnesses have been called to keep the hearing going here for the next few days and the plan after that will be mapped out later.

BRETHREN CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL MEET AT LINCOLN, NEB.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 9.—A more tightly knitted allegiance between the layman and the Church was the theme of the annual national conference of the Church of the Brethren which opened here today.

The conference, which ends June 15, attracted more than 12,000 delegates from all parts of America. This is the first time since 1901 that the conference has been held in this section of the United States.

The Nebraska State Fair grounds were being used for the sessions, it being the only site in Lincoln large enough to handle the gathering.

"The church must become an integral part in the lives of its members," declared Albert Wileand, dean of Bethany Bible school, Chicago, "if it is to continue playing the fundamental part in history."

Dr. Wileand pointed to the elaborate musical programs and the conference for women being held during the convention as means of attracting the layman into church activities.

No mention of the modernism and fundamentalism controversy will be made during the conference, it was expected. All of the sermons delivered during the conference will be on fundamental doctrines.

Among the speakers for the conference were D. W. Kurtz, president of McPherson college, McPherson, Kan.; Prof. R. W. Schlosser, of Elizabethtown college, Pennsylvania; President E. M. Studebaker, of LaVerne college, California; Elder H. C. Early, of Virginia, former moderator; Rev. C. D. Bousack, Elgin, Ill.; E. B. Hoff, Chicago, associate president of Bethany Bible school.

BROOKHART WINS BY MAJORITY OF 70,000

DES MOINES, Ia., June 9.—Almost complete returns from the Republican senatorial primary in Iowa today showed Smith W. Brookhart, insurgent and former senator, nominated over Senator Albert B. Cummins, administration supporter, by about 70,000 plurality.

The vote from 2,367 precincts of the state's 2,447 gave: Brookhart, 203,140; Cummins 133,852. Other candidates were running well in the rear.

Claude R. Porter has apparently won the Democratic nomination handily. Returns today showed Porter running about two to one ahead of J. H. Files and J. C. Murtagh, his closest competitors.

Obligations Pointed Out To Seniors Of Central High At Commencement

Dr. W. R. McChesney Addresses Sixty Four Graduates at Exercises—Crowded Church Hears Brilliant Graduating Oration

Characterizing the "Sesqui-Centennial" graduating class of Central High School as the "hope of the future," Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College, delivered an address on "Your Obligation," exhorting sixty-four tentative seniors to have a purpose in life at the sixty-seventh annual commencement exercises at First M. E. Church Tuesday night.

"With every generation," the speaker declared, "the obligation increases. The generations to follow you will consequently aim to higher heights if you fulfill your obligation."

"There will come a time when nations will forget their differences and bring the lights of truth together; when war drums will cease to throb, flags will be furled and when religious disputes will be no more, I can see such a civilization in the future."

"There is no reason under heaven nor any excuse why we should not bring out the best that is in us in these days of achievement and attainment. We have achieved mental, moral and religious lines far beyond the fondest dreams of the fathers of our country."

"You young people among the thousands of others, you, who will march out shoulder to shoulder from these classic halls—you are the hope of the future."

"Not only should you pursue life and happiness but liberty without regard to class, condition, color or creed. The liberty our fathers conceived must be maintained. You young people are under obligation to preserve the liberty your fathers fought and died for."

"You my friends, are the Sesqui-Centennial class of Xenia High School, a fact which must impress you with the sacredness of your obligation."

"In going forth into the world you must keep in mind one of two things. First preparedness

AIR-MAIL AVIATOR SERIOUSLY HURT IN CRASH OF AIRPLANE

Warren Williams Is Taken to Hospital After Accident

CLEVELAND, June 9.—Warren D. Williams, Cleveland-to-Chicago air mail pilot, was seriously injured when his plane crashed near the Cleveland airport today.

Williams was removed to Lakewood Hospital. Physicians said he has a good chance for recovery.

The crash occurred shortly after Williams hopped off for Chicago. Apparently his motor stalled.

As the plane fell Williams turned his emergency flares on the landing field and attempted to vibrate to earth. The craft refused to respond, however, and plunged into a tail spin.

Williams has been in the airmail service six years.

EIGHTH MURDER IS BAFFLING POLICE

STUEBENVILLE, O., June 9.—For the eighth time since January 1, a killer came out of Little Argonne, Stuebenville's foreign quarter, during the night and slew a man.

The latest victim was Nick Fiora, 44, proprietor of a pool-hall and a store who was shot down as he looked up his place for the night.

The assassin fired from a narrow passage way between Fiora's store and his home next door. The assassin fled to the Little Argonne, where police lost trail.

As in the other seven killings, the police attributed Fiora's death to a bootleggers feud.

No arrests have been made in connection with any of the murders.

Four years ago Fiora's throat was slashed in a night street attack. He refused to identify his assailant.

A widow and three children survive.

PROPOSE MEMORIAL FOR FORMER DEAN

COLUMBUS, O., June 9.—A gift of $12,500 to establish a fellowship in memory of Professor Nathaniel Wright Lord, first dean of the college of engineering, was announced here at Ohio State University. The donor is William B. Collins, of Ardmore, Pa., an alumnus of the class of 1899.

An income of $750 from the fellowship will be available each year to a promising graduate student for advanced work. Details of the award remain to be worked out but it is probable that the fellowship will be offered in some phases of engineering.

Professor Lord, for thirty-two years a member of Ohio State's faculty, was one of the outstanding engineers of his day. He was nationally known as a mining and metallurgical engineer, and was the head of his kind in chemical and sanitary and agricultural engineering.

BRYAN'S DAUGHTER HAS SLIGHT LEAD

AUSTRIA REPUBLIC DISCHARGED FROM BANKRUPTCY COURT

League Of Nations Re-habilitates Nation Says Member

GENEVA, June 9.—The republic of Austria today was discharged from the international court of bankruptcy when the League of Nations council formally announced it would terminate all control of Austrian finances on June 30.

Rehabilitation of Austria is one of the great works of the league which has failed to gain merited recognition, one member said.

Mello Franco, the Brazilian member, who absented himself from Monday and Tuesday's council meetings was present today.

While the council was congratulating Austria and itself the troubles of the league were increasing in the chamber where preliminary disarmament sub-commission was in session.

After two weeks of discussion of disarmament without a single fundamental decision being taken the delegates today disagreed regarding adjournment.

URGE DISMISSAL OF CHARGES OF FRAUD

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Dismissal of the election contest brought by Warren W. Bailey, Democrat, against Representative Anderson H. Walters, Pennsylvania, Republican, was recommended to the House today by its Election Committee.

Seated originally by a majority of 63, Walters lost 12 votes in a recount and investigation extending for two months.

Twenty-one ballots cast by aliens all for Bailey, were thrown out by the committee, which also turned down charges of fraud and irregularity against Walters and recommended that he retain his place in the House.

Bailey received forty disputed votes in St. Michaels District, however, where he charged tampering with the ballot boxes.

SCHOOLS CAN STOP MILITARY TRAINING

COLUMBUS, O., June 9.—Under a ruling of the state supreme court today any public school may abolish compulsory military training at the will of the board of education.

The court announced this ruling in refusing to review the appeal of Miss Jennie Greenberg, of Cleveland, who sought to prevent the Cleveland board of education from striking military training from the curricula of Cleveland schools.

The Cleveland Board of Education insisted throughout that the matter of military training was optional and that the board could legally abolish it. These contentions were upheld by the court.

AMERICAN SOLDIER IN FOREIGN LEGION "NOT AFRAID TO DIE"

Doty, Alias Clare, Was Homesick—Saved
From Arabs

BEIRUT, Syria, June 9.—Bennett Doty (Gilbert Clare) A merican soldier in the French foreign legion, is now held on a charge of absence without leave and not desertion.

CAIRO, June 9.—A dramatic story of a battle between deserters from the French foreign legion and Arab tribesmen is told in Damascus advices concerning the case of B. J. Doty, alias Gilbert Clare, American youth whose plight as a deserter caused the premier of France to stay the course of justice.

The advices said the youth deserted because he was unable to tolerate conditions he declared existed in the foreign legion.

With half a dozen companions, most of whom were German members of the foreign legion, he made a dash for the frontier, after the recapture of Suella. Arabs attacked the fleeing men, however, and a fight ensued. The deserters were armed with only one rifle and were facing death when French sympathizers arrived and saved them. The deserters were forced to surrender to French officers to avoid being slaughtered by the Arabs.

In addition to Doty and the Germans who fled with him, one of the band of deserters was believed to be British. All are awaiting disposition of their cases in Damascus.

PARIS, June 9.—A Damascus dispatch (to the European Edition) of the Chicago Tribune, published here, quoted a letter from B. J. Doty, known as Gilbert Clare, young American member of the French foreign legion as admitting the charge of desertion for which he is under arrest. He deserted, the dispatch said, because he was homesick.

Accompanied by several Germans, he started for Palestine. Bedouins attacked the party and killed two of them, the dispatch reported.

"I am not afraid of death," the dispatch quoted him as writing. "I shall probably go to devil's Island. Tell the folks not to worry."

Clare probably will be given a trial at Damascus, the Tribune dispatch said.

PROMISE DEBATE ON PROHIBITION ACT

WASHINGTON, June 9.—A prohibition debate on the house floor was insured today by the judiciary committee's action in reporting out the Goff-Graham-Andrews enforcement bill, tightening up the Volstead law.

The committee supported the contention "a man's home is his castle" by recommending deletion of a section proposed by Lincoln C. Andrews, dry chief, to allow search of private dwellings if there is evidence of stills being set up in them.

The other provisions of the bill proposed by Andrews were approved. The committee requested Chairman Graham, Republican, Pennsylvania, to ask for a special rule to bring the measure before the house.

In the same bill, introduced by Senator Goff, has been much altered and probably will not be considered this session.

BOGUS STAMPS ARE SEIZED BY RAIDERS

NEW YORK, June 9.—Three men were arrested and 3,000,000 counterfeit revenue stamps, representing a value of $250,000, were seized here early today, when Federal agents raided the office of a lithographing company.

Agents were sent from Washington eight weeks ago upon the finding of a counterfeit internal revenue stamp used in sealing whiskey bottles. Clues led them to the sixth floor of a building in the heart of the lithographing and engraving district.

Two agents climbed the fire escape, forced entrance through steel fire shutters and found three men at work. Copper plates, two presses the 3,000,000 stamps and a large quantity of liquor labels were seized.

Concrete street pavement gives the same enduring service as the concrete road

Bellefontaine, Ohio Has Oldest Concrete Street in America

Thirty-four years old, and still on the job. That's the story of America's first concrete street.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, built it—"way back in 1892.

In those days America was without movies, without the radio, without skyscrapers—and without automobiles.

The most daring dreamer would not have predicted that some day we would have 20,000,000 motor vehicles, and that the motor industry would be turning out 4,000,000 new cars a year.

Thirty-four years ago portland cement concrete had not even been considered as a paving material, and there were no standards of design and construction to go by.

Yet Bellefontaine's first concrete street on Court House Square, like the many other concrete streets it has built since, continues to meet all traffic requirements.

Just as it withstood the slow-moving, steel-tired horse-drawn traffic of other days so it is withstanding the swift pounding traffic of automobiles, busses and motor trucks.

Modern highway builders from near and far go to inspect this veteran pavement; but they no longer marvel at its sturdy service. For they know that in hundreds of cities and towns from one end of the country to the other, concrete streets have proved that they possess the same enduring strength they have shown in Bellefontaine, Ohio.

WOULD LINK CHURCH WOMEN IN SOCIETY

COLUMBUS, O., June 9—Plans to link together in a state-wide program the ideal inter-denominational federation of churchwomen's societies which exist in a number of Ohio cities were made at a meeting of the women's committee of the Ohio council of churches here.

Some twenty Ohio cities possess such organizations, several of which function as departments of women's work in connection with city council or churches. The committee considered plans for promoting establishment of such federations in other cities.

Possibility of holding a state-wide conference for women engaged in church work in Columbus next January was also discussed. It held this meeting will probably be at the time of the State Pastors' convention, January 24-27, but will be conducted separately from that gathering.

Mrs. Dan P. Bradley, Cleveland, is chairman of the women's committee. The membership includes representatives of protestant denomination in the council of churches and of local inter-denominational groups.

Overwrought Nerves

YOU never heard of a red-blooded person—man or woman—becoming a nervous wreck? And you never will. You never saw anybody with healthy, rich, red blood, get wearied by the activities of daily life. Did you?

No! It's weak blood—lack of healthy, rich, red blood. That's the whole trouble with those whose nerves are overwrought. They lack the resisting powers—the stamina that healthy, red-blood-cells give that enable us to stand up under the strain of daily life.

S. S. S. is the salvation of these unhappy people. It is just the thing to strengthen the nerves, restore muscular power to the body, and increase the endurance of weak, failing, run-down women and men.

Don't keep on going down simply because your blood is starving for want of healthy, red-blood-cells. You can get back your nerve power with S. S. S. You can do it just as surely as thousands have done for the past century.

S. S. S. also clears the skin of pimples, boils, eczema—hollow cheeks fill out and firm flesh takes the place of flabby muscles. Why, you'll begin living all over again. Get S. S. S. today from any good druggist. And get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

GIRLS, USE LEMON TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juices of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents.

Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softer and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be brought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

Fishermen!

An old angler was once asked how he invariably got fish every time he went out, no matter what the wind or weather.

"Wall," replied the old fellow, "It's like this. I give 'em what they want. If it's plugs, I give 'em plugs. If it's flies, I give 'em flies. If it's spoons an' spinners, I furnish 'em. As the store-keepers say, 'I aim ter please'."

Are you "aiming to please" them these days? Maybe a few new baits would help you fill your stringer faster. We have them—spoons, spinners, plugs and flies in a large and varied assortment. Drop in and look them over. You'll be interested.

MAUDE WYNNE MONROE ATTAINS HIGHEST RECORD IN STUDIES

First place on the 1926 honor roll at Centar High School, which annually signalizes individual scholastic triumphs in the senior class, has been awarded this year to Miss Maude Wynne Monroe, who obtained perfect grades during her high school course.

She obtained sixty-four points, the highest possible number, by receiving grades of E in every subject she studied during her freshman, sophomore, junior and senior years.

The normal student "load" is four academic subjects per year during high school and the honor roll is computed on this basis. It is restricted to the ten students having the highest number of points for the four years but this year saw an exceptional senior class, according to Principal Spencer Shank.

Miss Monroe is first on the list, next is a group of five students with an equal academic ranking of sixty-four. Those in group two are Dorothy Bocklet, Edward Flynn, Jane Hayward, Barbara Little and Elizabeth Stout.

William Wead is next with fifty-eight points, followed by two students, Helen Reutinger and Elizabeth Hardy, who are tied with fifty-six points.

The honor roll also includes the names of five students grouped with fifty-five points each. These are Virginia Heathman, Bertha Hyman, Mary Jordan, Christel Thomas and Mary Wilson.

WHO WANTS IT THAT WAY?

ANNOUNCED in the season of strawberries, roasting ears and watermelons, that project for reducing food to tabloid form is not likely to find much encouragement. Instead of a tabloid hotcake, the average individual has ever yearned for one about as big as a platter. It is not for corn on cob reduced to a pill that one sighs, but for at least a dozen Golden Bantams in quick succession. It is no time-saving device that one wants when in the presence of fried chicken; one imagines that one could pretty nearly stay with it forever.

So we note the suggestion by a member of the United States public health service that science may some time reduce our food to the form of a tiny pellet only to warn science that if it does it will make itself unpopular with the vast majority of mankind. No normal individual wants to get out of the habit of eating apple pie or turkey and its trimmings. Nor is any disciple of normalcy looking for a way to take ice cream so he will not know what he is swallowing.

Just as things stand even devil-food cake can be negotiated without requiring anything to take the taste away. It is but fair to the officer who made the tabloid food suggestion that he himself is not impressed by the thought of it, excepting, possibly, for emergencies or traveling in the desert. Personally he likes to eat, and that is the unanimous answer.

Gluttony consists not in liking to eat, for every normal being enjoys the taking of food; gluttony is abuse of this natural law, to the extent of making food the object of life rather than a means of continuing it; gluttony lives to eat instead of eating to live and render useful service.

The tabloid food proposition may be all right as a subject for light summer discussion, but as long as human beings remain in the flesh they just naturally will not hanker for anything to abbreviate the taste of good things to eat.

THE HUMAN SIDE

The economic phase of tuberculosis eradication has frequently been stressed, but the dairy farmer also has a moral responsibility to his own family and to the families of others who may consume his product in the raw state. The chief danger, of course, to children especially to children under five years of age. Read what Dr. Chas. H. Mayo, of the world renowned Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minnesota, says concerning the eradication of bovine tuberculosis:

"I believe in pasteurization," he says in answer to an inquiry, "but I also strongly believe in the eradication of tuberculosis animals from dairy herds; this can be done by careful testing. This is the only safe way for children on the farms where pasteurized milk cannot be obtained. The majority of cases of tuberculosis in the neck, intestines and abdomen are found in children from the farms and not from the city."

Farm fathers and mothers may well pause and consider these words of a famous surgeon who tells them that this type of tuberculosis is most often found on the farm. Does it pay to temporize and delay? Of course, all children who drink milk from tubercular cows may not acquire the disease. It is even possible that only a small percentage of them will. But what sensible and loving father would refuse to stamp out the burning brand, even though there may be only one chance in ten that it will set the house on fire? Who would jeopardize in the slightest or run one chance in a million that his little boy or girl might be taken from him because he was neglectful in adopting reasonable precautionary methods? Many sad stories have been told. Here is one recently called to our attention, and almost any community can find a similar tragedy:

A little farm boy of two years developed a swelling in his head. Local doctors failed to discover the cause and finally the child was taken to the state children's hospital. There it was found that the trouble was due to tuberculosis. Everything that science and tender care could do failed to save the child. The parents, recognizing the possibility of bovine origin but heretofore neglectful, immediately had their herd tuberculin tested. Several cows reacted, among them the one cow whose milk had been selected for baby because the cow seemed to be so healthy. Post-mortem revealed that this animal had a tuberculous udder.

A German commission investigated eighty-four children who had died of tuberculosis. Twenty-one of these, one-fourth, had contracted the disease from bovine sources. Several years ago an investigation revealed that in New York City there were 300 children that died each year from tuberculosis of bovine origin. In addition to which there were many more that were permanently disabled through tuberculosis of the glands, bones, and joints, acquired from bovine sources. In sixty-seven cases of tuberculosis of the bone in children under twelve years of age, an Edinburgh investigation showed that forty-one were of bovine origin. In the same city, out of seventy-two children with enlarged cervical glands, sixty-five showed an infection with tuberculosis of bovine origin and only seven with human germs. "It is evident from these results," says Dr. Ravanel, "as well as those obtained from other workers, that the chief danger of infection with the bovine germ is in children and especially children under five years of age. It is self-evident that practically the only source of infection in such children is the milk they drink."

SESQUI AVIATOR

George F. Zimmer, director of aviation for the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing until December 1, to celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, enters the Yorktown, a huge sixteen-passenger plane, to make a flight to the national capital to arrange for the Sesqui aviation program.

The aviation program will be one of the most comprehensive ever attempted. There are two great flying fields at the Exposition and a third, the Pittsfield Field at Bryn Athyn, Pa., a few miles north of the city, also will be used.

Operation Not Successful

"Sixteen years ago I was operated for appendicitis and later operated again for gall stones. Neither did me any good and I suffered all kinds of torture since. Five years ago I took MAYR'S and have felt no symptoms or pain since. All stomach sufferers should take it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Just Folks

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

TO THE FISH THAT GOT AWAY

At first I was inclined to fret
Because you had escaped my net.

The more my fancy dwelt on you,
The larger, I believe, you grew.

That was a royal fight you gave,
Three times you broke above the wave.

Then from your mouth the hook you tossed
And you became the fish I'd lost.

In my despair of beaten pride
Your size and weight I magnified.

While you were uppermost in thought
I quite forgot the fish I'd caught.

I fancied you were sweeter meat
Than those I had and soon should eat.

Then something in me seemed to say:
"Forget the fish that got away."

"The ones you lose will never bake
Or fry or boil like those you take."

"The only fish that's worth a thing
Is that which dangles on your string."

"Just get this little lesson learned:
The best, so far, as you're concerned,

"Is not the one that gets away,
It is the fish you can display."

"The joys you miss don't long bemoan,
But make the most of those you own."

Greene County History

FIRST STOVES

It is not certain when the first stove came into use in Greene County but there were only a few distributed until the beginning of the '50s.

The first stoves were crude affairs. From the pictures of stoves for kitchen use which appeared in advertisements in the '40s, they must have been difficult to operate.

Before the advent of the stove, the cooking was all done before the open fire.

The three-legged Dutch oven with iron lid, spiders, skillets and the ever-present iron kettle comprised the chief utensils for boiling, roasting, baking and frying.

A leg of venison, a wild turkey, or the ham of a pioneer porker was hung up before the fireplace by a strong cord. One of the younger members of the household was delegated to the task of turning the roast so that it would be nicely browned on all sides; however, the unlucky youngster was generally as well roasted as the joint of meat.

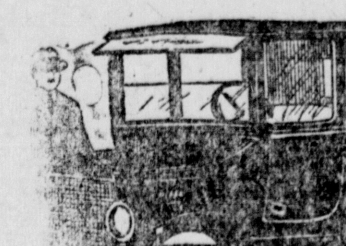

The family washing was usually done in the yard around the cabin, the water being heated in a large kettle.

The washing machine was as unknown as the flying machine.

The same kettle used in the washing was used in the spring in making the family soap for the year.

Every well-regulated household had its ash hopper and its barrel into which every fragrant of fat found its way.

TURNING POINTS

There is just a little hair's distance between success and failure. Failure is the result of not having enough courage to leap over that hair's breadth. When you feel as though all was lost, that is the time when you should determine to lose nothing.

None of us ever feels wholly secure in our success, no matter what it may seem like. We are beset with turning points. It may be that just one more turn, or just one more ounce of effort may mean your uphill achievement.

Never give up when you feel like giving up. You are the only individual in this world who is able to make yourself win or fail. You can do what you believe you can do. When you stand at a turning point, lift your chin just a little higher and set your jaw a little firmer—and then decide to make the grade!

Depend upon no one. Be a lifter and not a leaner. You feed upon the inspiration that you alone generate. As you inspire others you in turn inspire yourself.

For greatness is that realization that comes to all understanding minds that the job must be finished—somehow.

Lydia E. Pinkham and Her Great Granddaughter

IF Lydia E. Pinkham were alive today she would be 107 years old. Her memory is revered by her descendants who continue to manufacture and market her famous Vegetable Compound. From Lydia E. Pinkham to her great granddaughter, four generations have relied upon this dependable medicine. The happy school girl of today, like the demure maiden of the 1870's, knows that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps to restore and preserve her health.

Years ago, a mother gave this medicine to her fifteen year old daughter. The daughter married and became the mother of seven children. She writes, "I always took it before my babies were born and I know it gave me strength to keep up and do my work. I am now taking the Vegetable Compound again and I am giving it to my oldest daughter."

Because this dependable medicine has proved its worth in her own family, she will answer letters from other women asking about it.

ANTIOCH DEFEATS WILBERFORCE U. IN FREE HITTING TILT

Pounding Thompson for fifteen hits and a like number of runs, Coach Earl E. Prugh's Antioch College baseball team easily defeated Wilberforce University at Wilberforce 15 to 10 Tuesday afternoon.

Thompson was breezing along with a one run lead until the seventh when he was found for nine runs. Dawson started in the box for Antioch and was effective until the fourth and fifth, when he was pounded out of the box. MacLean, his successor, managed to average rallies.

Ward, Wilberforce outfielder, was the batting star of the contest. He pulled two home runs and a single. Currier's catching was also a feature.

Wilberforce fielded poorly committing nine offenses in this department while the visitors played almost errorless ball. Antioch plays Capital at Yellow Springs, Saturday at 2 p. m.

DAYTON MARCOS TO PLAY HERE AGAIN

Xenia fans will be given at least one more opportunity to witness a big league baseball game this summer as it is probable the Dayton Marcos will avail themselves of the privilege of using Washington Park for the second time this season next Wednesday afternoon.

Home following a fairly successful road trip, the Marcos open a series with the Detroit Stars in Dayton next week. It is planned to play one of the series in Xenia on Wednesday at 3:30 p. m.

The Stars are entrenched in second place in the National League for Colored Players and according to Manager Matthews, of the Marcos, have one of the best nines in the league.

"WHY DODDS' SERVICE IN MEMORIALS IS BEST."

In this modern age of high development "efficiency" has been a tried word, but it has proved to be the keynote of America's success.

People everywhere are on a constant search for individuality in their attempt to secure the necessities of life. A characteristic of the people of our country is to be constantly changing for a new and better way, of striving for the highest point of development.

The George Dodds & Sons Co. is one firm which has followed the above principles. Their motto has been in the past: "The customer must be treated so well that his satisfaction will be evidenced in the good will which prompts him to recommend our service to others." There are several reasons for their ability to render such perfect service to the public. This organization has been in the business world for about sixty years. Experience, alone is a great factor. When a firm has an efficient force with ambition and pep they are sure to succeed, especially when the quality of merchandise is included.

One of the main features of the George Dodds & Co., is that they have gained control of one of the most famous quarries in Massachusetts which they themselves operate. From these quarries they receive an excellent grade of granite, namely, the Victoria White and the Milford Pink. The fact that they own and operate their own quarries enables them to sell their products to the public at a lower cost.

Their stock, however, is not limited to these two grades, but any type of marble or granite may be secured in accordance with the customer's wish.

Aside from obtaining their material at a low cost, their men in employment must also be considered. In this type of work, great care is an absolute necessity. Their designing department is one of which they are especially proud. Their designers are master artists, who either create their design or produce them at the suggestion of the customer. Their workmen are artistic as well as accurate in the work of which an inspection of that department is persuasive of that fact.

In this line of work the customer is greatly reliant on the dealer for his judgment as to various qualities of the monument or marker.

Having had many years of experience, they are easily able to advise the customer, and give a pleasing service to the public. They have succeeded in so benefiting mankind through their courtesy and service, that they have willingly acquired the good will of all whom they serve. What more could a patron desire from a corporation whose ideals have been so high? As a reward for their service to the community the George Dodds & Sons Company shall never be forgotten through their work which will stand as their living memorial.

FORMER FAIRFIELD AVIATOR KILLED

Elmer Partridge, air mail pilot, who was killed Monday when his airplane crashed during a gale near Mendota, Minn., was instructor at Wilbur Wright Field, in 1917. With his brother, Don, Partridge, was the first civilian to land at the field after its completion.

The dead aviator was a pioneer in flying and instructed at the local field for more than a year. Partridge, his brother and two other men, formed the training staff of which only two men remain. Art Smith, who was killed when flying the Cleveland-Chicago leg of the transcontinental air mail service recently, was one of the four instructors.

Partridge was a carnival flyer before the war and during the Dayton air race operated a fast aerial passenger service between Chicago and Dayton.

TO CONNECT DAYTON WITH WRIGHT FIELD

Work on the proposed road connecting Third St., Dayton, to the new Wright Field, will begin at once. The announcement was made following the sale of the land to the Gem City Improvement Co.

The consideration involved in the transaction is estimated at $100,000. The land purchased extends one mile from the end of the extension made when Aerial Park Plat was opened, through the Harshman farm and hits the Yellow Springs road at the junction of Spinning Road.

The strip of land is 375 feet wide. Through its center a ninety-foot boulevard is to be laid with a park strip through the center and an eighteen-foot road on either side.

EVERYBODY IS QUEER IN SOME RESPECT REPORTER FINDS; WHAT'S YOUR FAILING?

Everybody is rather "queer" when you come to think about it. What is your pet "quirk"? Undoubtedly you have one for it is common to all. Without exception everybody has some little peculiarity or quirkiness, perhaps a touch of individuality which distinguishes him from others.

The idiosyncrasies of others may seem peculiar to you and even humorous. You will quickly recognize them in your friends and associates but never in yourself. For that matter your companions just as readily recognize little points of quickness or individuality in you. People are funny as a rule. Probably you know of many queer characteristics in your friends.

For instance there is the man who hates the second gear in his automobile. Possibly it does not go in easily enough to suit him but as a matter of fact he will jerk and puff along in high, crawling and sputtering at a slow rate of speed up a hill, rather than shift into second. Accustomed to higher-powered cars he simply hates to go into second if he can possibly avoid it.

Do you know the women, who, although they can not be classed as stingy, hate to throw anything away if it can be of the slightest use. This may be called economical, conservative or just thrifty. However, in many cases their attics are loaded with a mass of impossible articles that will never be used but are nevertheless "saved."

Then there is the woman who will save every bit of string that comes into her hands. The color or texture doesn't matter for she saves all varieties and colors. It is tragedy for her to miss a single bit of it. Presently she has enough string in her kitchen to fly a kite, but she never stops gathering bits together for a vague future use. Others do this with wrapping paper. They never attempt to sell it, just save it.

Some characteristics are of a serious character—others cause no little embarrassment to their possessors.

There is the housewife who has a horror of dirt. It may be the man who washes his hands at least ten times a day, it may be the woman who is constantly dusting already spotless furniture, in quest of the slightest speck of dirt. Others have a marked aversion for dark places, for certain animals or a dislike for some particular food.

Strong men faint at the sight of blood and sensible women sometimes have a fear of being poisoned.

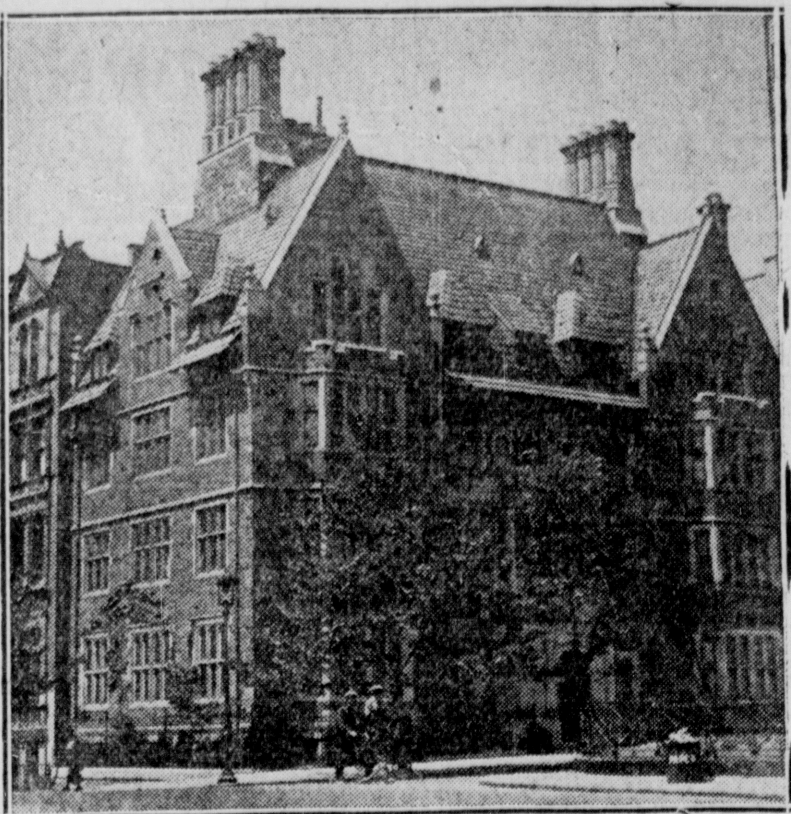

Aren't people funny?

A SHOPPING GUIDE FOR THE BARGAIN HUNTER

"Not Possible To Classify"

By Mack Sauer

A few jottings of the day by Samuel Pepps, Jr.: Up and sewed a button on my shirt, while my wife slept, using black thread instead of white. Got to thinking of how the mothers used to hide their daughters' clothes to keep them home at night, and to wondering how mothers do these days, since the modern girl would not stay at home because of no clothes to wear, as she proves on the streets every day.

Came a fellow to chat with me and mighty inquisitive he was to find whether my heart is good or no, which made me wonder what his meaning was, and after all my thoughts I could not figure it out, until it came to me that he is an insurance agent, so angry with myself for telling him so much of my business. Saw Helen Dodds, who it doth appear, will run for office.

In front of the car station saw a push cart knocked over by a bus, papers flying everywhere, but no words. And what mirth it gave me to hear Carl Anderson, the taxi man, singing a tune about the old time religion, and of how it is good enough for him. To see McIntire, the tire man, about my radio battery, and we talked long about this and that, and in especial of fishing of which we have great love.

To visit my friend, Roy Sutton, and heard a few tunes on a dulcimer, one of the finest instruments I know, yet rare. Came an invitation to speak at a gathering ere long, which with much ado I accepted, though I know it is too much for me. Home late and to bed with prayers.

The Theatre

Found by a "play jury" to be "objectionable as a whole to public decency," "The Bunk of 1926" a New York revue, will close immediately under an agreement between the Ac- tors' Equity Association and the Managers' Association.

A second jury found that "Great Temptations" was objectionable from the point of view of pub- lic morals, and would have to be revised or taken off the stage.

Two other plays, "Sex," and "Shanghai Gesture" were consid- ered inoffensive by other play juries.

The play jury idea is about five years old, but has been little used. It was revived in the present in- stance when the district attorney's office received complaints concern- ing the four plays. Juries for the play juries are selected from panels of citizens and their identities are not known prior to their rendering a verdict. They visit the theaters without the knowledge of the man- agement.

FAMOUS SPHINX NOW ENTIRELY REVEALED FIRST TIME IN YEARS

CAIRO, June 9.—For the first time in 2,200 years the Sphinx is now entirely visible.

The accumulation of sand which since Ptolemaic times has been filling up the depression in which the Sphinx stands, and which had buried all but the head back and shoulders of the Sphinx, has been carried away by an army of workers and this seventh Wonder of the World today again stands fully revealed.

No less than 800 boys and girls and a large corps of skilled masons have been employed for months in the excavation and renovation of the Sphinx.

These youngsters worked in gangs, each with its own special singer who chanted all day long little meaningless Arabic ditties which the gangs of dark-skinned children took up and chanted themselves as they streamed up and down the sides of the ever-deepening hole from which the immense bulk of the Sphinx slowly emerged as the work progressed. Once again the giant paws have come to light in their entirety and between them has been found still intact the tiny shrine built by Thotmes about 2,000 B. C. This was last examined during some minor excavations in 1817.

The memorial stone to this shrine bears an interesting inscription describing how the Sphinx appeared to the Prince in a vision when he had fallen asleep in its shade after a hunting expedition. In his dream the Sphinx told the Prince that he would become King, but made him promise to clear his image from the sand in which it had become buried. Subsequently the Prince came to the throne as Thotmes IV., and the monument records that in the first year of his reign he fulfilled his dream-promise. Thotmes IV also caused all but the head of the Sphinx to be encased in a limestone masonry about a foot thick to protect it against the wear of time. This masonry covering is still perfect on the enormous paws and lower parts of the monument. Some of the red pigment with which the monument was covered also remains, and on the breast are traces of the huge statue of the king who originally had the Sphinx produced.

The Sphinx as now uncovered is about 240 feet long from the end of the haunches and is about 65 feet

OBLIGATIONS ARE STRESSED IN TALK TO NEW GRADUATES

for the responsibilities of life. You are each equipped with either natural or acquired advantages or preparedness. The natural or hereditary may be mingled blessing and curse. We can not help what we inherited but we are responsible for how we use these qualities.

"Acquired preparedness rests in your environment, first in your homes, your first place of learning, next in your school.

"There is no institution in America today doing so much for the boy and girl, the lad and lassie, as the public school. You should never forget the obligation you owe the schools of the country and to the honest, planning, noble, self-sacrificing teachers and superintendents. If it were not for all of this you would not be here tonight.

"Nor can you afford to forget in your preparation the government that has guided and protected your interests for so long a time. The strong arm of the law in America sees to it that we all have a chance for life, love, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

"The obligation now rests with you to pay your debt to society, to the homes that have raised you, to the schools that have cultured you. Your obligation is to carry the spirit of religious as well as civil freedom to all ends of the earth.

"Have a purpose in life. That is fundamental, a preparation and a purpose—a purpose based on fundamentals, one that goes down deep into your character, one that is broad as the universe. We are brothers, we are sisters, all the world around. You should succeed.

"No purpose short of that involving the vision of God can succeed. We may go out of the world with its plaudits ringing in our ears but the doom of hell will sound if our purpose is short of that which entwines itself into God's vision.

"A sound, righteous and noble purpose—have that kind of a purpose—one that will absorb your very being, be compelling and all-purposing when the crisis in your life comes.

"Put energy into your purpose and preparation. It is work that counts as well as the other two. We must toil to succeed, success does not come easily.

"What shall I be, what shall I do? are the great problems which now confront you. Find your niche in life and do not be ashamed of it no matter how small it is. Nothing is obscure or humble in the eyes of the Lord. Do your right work and do your best.

"In conclusion have purity in life, a high noble purpose. Keep clean as you go through life in carrying out this purpose. Have nothing to confess, have nothing to be ashamed of, keep your record pure young men, keep your record pure."

Commencement program opened with the procession with organ accompaniment by Miss Theda Downing, the sixty-four graduates taking their places in a reserved section in the church. Following the custom inaugurated last year, caps and gowns were again worn. The invocation was pronounced by Dr. F. W. Stanton, pastor of the church. A selection, "Gems and Jewels" by the Central High School Orchestra under the direction of Eugene Whitworth, preceded Dr. McChesney's address, and Superintendent H. C. Pendry's introductory talk.

Another orchestral number, "Garden of Eden" followed the speech. In presenting the senior class, Principal Spencer Shank also complimented it as an exceptional one. He also introduced Miss Helen Reutinger and George Perrill, who attained the premier roll this year and fourteen seniors whose scholastic ranking has been so high for the past four years they have achieved the distinction of honor roll pupils.

Superintendent H. C. Pendry presented the diplomas. Following the singing of the first and last verses of "America" by the audience, Dr. McChesney pronounced the benediction.

Following is the class roll: Marie Acton, Hazel Amy, James Bickett, Dorothy Bickett, Dan Booren, Robert Buckles, Arnold Boxwell, Frances Bradley, Juanita Buttz, John Collins, Kenneth Conklin, Jessie Crawford, Louise Crawford, Robert Currie, Wanda DeVoe, John Donovan, Robert Downing, Lester Fawcett, Robert Finlay, William Flomerfelt, Edward Flynn, Elizabeth Hardy.

My Matrimonial Vacation by VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

NANCY LARRABEE has remained in New York with her mother.

VIRGINIA, while her husband, a young army officer, JIM LARRABEE, goes to the Philippines. They become estranged and she writes him that she wants to divorce him and marry Bill Ewing. She received a cablegram saying that Jim has died at sea, and realizes that it is Jim she loves.

The report of Jim's death is false, and he returns to New York, where Nancy meets him at the train, and finds that he apparently is as eager for a divorce as she was until she heard of his death.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT XLVI—A DIFFICULT EVENING

DRESSED with more care than I had used before in months. Even though Jim didn't love me any more, I wanted to make the best possible impression.

"But I thought you liked jazz," Jim said when I protested. "You used to love it."

"I've had too much of it," I answered. "I want to spend all my time now in some quiet, restful place."

"Sounds as if you were looking for a cemetery," remarked one of Jim's friends. "I wished that he and his companion were in Halifax; there they sat, completely spoiling what would probably be my last evening alone with Jim!"

We went to the theater afterward. It was a musical comedy, which I'd seen before, twice. I hardly knew what was going on on the stage; my thoughts were all of Jim.

During the intermission he and one of his friends went out and smoked. The other man stayed and talked with me, telling me little anecdotes about life in the Philippines, where he'd been in Jim's regiment.

When Jim came back I asked him how it happened that I got a telegram from him, signed "A. L."

"Don't know unless the girl at my hotel in San Francisco misunderstood," he answered. "I telephoned down to the public stenographer and asked her to send it for me."

He hadn't even sent that wire himself. That was the last straw. I wished that I could hurt him, hurt him as much as he had hurt me.

I devoted myself to his friends after that, though they seemed frightfully stupid to me.

In the theater lobby, as we were leaving, we encountered Virginia and Dad, with some friends. Virginia had come into the hotel in time to meet Jim, and was inclined to be very disagreeable because the report of his death wasn't true.

I had an opportunity to speak to her alone, and told her that she needn't worry, as I was going to a divorce from Jim just as she wanted me to.

She promptly began to be very cordial to him, and urged that we all join her party for supper at one of the dance clubs.

Jim didn't want to go, but the others did.

"All right; we'll go for a while, and then I'll take the fellows along with me to a place I want to show them, and you can take Nancy on home with you later," he told Virginia.

He came back in about twenty minutes with his friends, and we went to one of the big restaurants for dinner. I loathed the place; it was crowded and noisy, with a jazz band making such a racket that conversation was impossible most of the time.
